October 31st marks the anniversary of the Reformation, a pivotal moment in Christian history that was sparked by Martin Luther's actions in 1517. Luther's bold stance on the gospel and his insistence on the authority of scripture ignited a movement that forever changed the landscape of Christianity. As Lutherans remember the legacy of the Reformation, it's natural to evaluate the contemporary church through the lens of this historic event. While we celebrate the widespread recovery of core Reformation convictions, there are also concerns about the endurance of this movement. We need to continue to press upon the nerve that Luther first hit and uphold the authority of scripture, the centrality of the gospel, and the importance of personal faith in Christ.

The Reformation was not about creating something new; it was about reviving something old. The leaders of the Reformation loved the church and its doctrine, and they wanted to reform it. In today's world, we often have an attitude of "out with the old, in with the new". We are always looking for the next big thing, the new trend to follow. But what if we shifted our focus to reforming the old instead of always pursuing something new? Pastors and church leaders often talk about their vision for what God wants their church to be, while church members speak of new ways to stay relevant. However, the Reformers looked back to the old ways, even amid the ashes of 16th-century Roman Catholicism. They sought to revive the true doctrine of justification by faith alone. Let us follow in their footsteps and focus on reforming the old, instead of always pursuing something new. Let us revive the true doctrine and love for the church.

It's easy to get caught up in seeking the approval of others, but as believers, our ultimate loyalty should be towards God. In a world where speaking out against false teachings might lead to criticism, it's crucial to remember that staying true to God's Word should always be our top priority. The Reformers, who stood firm in their faith despite great opposition, serve as an inspiration for us to follow. So, let's not be afraid to speak truth in love and prioritize pleasing God over pleasing man. Remember, as Galatians 1:10 says, "If I were still trying to please man, I would not be a servant of Christ."

In today's world, many people are quick to dismiss the importance of doctrine in their spiritual journey. But the truth is, without a solid foundation of doctrine, we risk falling prey to false teachings and a shallow understanding of our faith. As the Bible instructs us, it's crucial for pastors and church members alike to embrace the power of doctrinal preaching and application. By doing so, we can deepen our understanding of God's word and grow closer to Him in our daily lives. So don't be afraid to dig deep and embrace the beauty of doctrine - it's the key to true spiritual growth and maturity.

As Christians, we love our leaders and are grateful for their teachings. However, we must not make the mistake of idolizing them and forgetting the true source of their wisdom - the Word of God. Let's not forget that the Reformation was born out of a deep love for the Word and a desire to recover the truth of justification by faith. We must see our leaders as a means to an end, not an end in themselves. So, let's make sure that we are not just reading books, but that we are truly getting gripped by the Word of God and the God of the Word.

The Reformation stands as a powerful reminder of God's transformative presence throughout history. With the declaration of "Post Tenebras Lux" (after darkness light), we are reminded of God's ongoing work in illuminating the truth. As we reflect on this significant event, let us be empowered to carry forward the torch of the Reformation, drawing from the lessons learned and the profound impact it had on faith and society. May God strengthen our hands as we embrace the legacy of the Reformation and continue to seek truth, justice, and spiritual renewal in our world today.

Blessings,

BOOK BUDDIES

Deception Point by Dan Brown—Thursday, October 26th @ 1 PM

When a new NASA satellite spots evidence of an astonishingly rare object buried deep in the Arctic ice, the floundering space agency proclaims a much-needed victory...a victory that has profound implications for U.S. space policy and the impending presidential election. With the Oval Office in the balance, the President dispatches White House Intelligence analyst Rachel Sexton to the Milne Ice Shelf to verify the authenticity of the find. Accompanied by a team of experts, including the charismatic academic Michael Tolland, Rachel uncovers the unthinkable: evidence of scientific trickery -- a bold deception that threatens to plunge the world into controversy. But before Rachel can contact the President, she and Michael are attacked by a deadly team of assassins controlled by a mysterious power broker who will stop at nothing to hide the truth. Fleeing for their lives in an environment as desolate as it is lethal, their only hope for survival is to find out who is behind this masterful play. The truth, they will learn, is the most shocking deception of all.

Thank YOU for ALL THAT YOU do

I always knew I was part of an awesome congregation, but what I experienced on Sunday Aug 27 (and the two Friday rehearsals before) made me appreciate and love the people of Hope so much more. Thank you to all who helped make Pastor Jami's final service such a special moment and most of all, a surprise! We have various different talents within our congregation, which so many were able to share during the Make a Difference flash mob at the end of the service. This surprise could not have been possible without all the dancers both small and tall especially Alexis Soltis & Giada Nyce who choreographed the start of the dance and also the hip hop section. The quick crew hands made all the movie magic come together and really added flare to the overall dance. Hours of brainstorming and prepping had to happen to create this special moment for PJ. So a thank you to those individuals who helped plan the overall flash mob is needed as well. This included Mikayla Boyer, Ally Lockard, the Maurer and Ziegler families and myself. However, what really made the dance so perfect was the involvement of the congregation. You! Dancing together one final time was such a powerful way to express how much PJ made a difference in each of our lives. So, thank you! We are beloved children of God and are truly blessed with many creative gifts. Thank you again to all who helped create such an amazing send off to PJ'S retirement.

God is good,
Stacey Burke
